

Basic Skills in Counselling for Teachers

The stress and strain of daily life has taken its toll on children and we see quite a few of them struggling to cope with life. There are some we notice, but there are also many others who are struggling but do not show obvious signs. They are all in need of help. Unless the help that is given is effective and timely, these children will find it very difficult to manage life. This training helps teachers to spot children having emotional difficulties, support them with the skills they have learned and help them to tide over their crisis.

To reach out to children such as these, the A.B.E took an initiative in 2005 to organize a programme of training teachers in counselling skills. More than 500 teachers have been trained from over 110 schools in Mumbai till now.

Teachers from non ABE schools can also join the course based on availability of seats.
